

Hey Neil, do you fancy coming out climbing?

No Jerry, I'm off to LPT to polish off an old project of yours. It's going to be 9at and I'm calling it 'The New Generation' I think it represents progress in the evolution of British climbing!

Ian do you want to come out bouldering?

Sorry Ben, Chris Sharma is over from the States. We're going out to do some really hard climbing followed by a photo-shoot for our sponsors.

later....
You do! Oh great

See you in a bit

What happened to the GT 300i SUPER-TURBO 2 with spoilers that you had?

I got rid of it when I realised the increased environmental impact of large engine cars

At the crag...
I ain't got any boots. I thought you'd have some

Well we'd better get some

Hey Jerry, where do boots come from?

I don't know, let's ask

Hey Pal! Where do boots come from?
From shops of course!
What? You mean like Tescos?

Fancy that! They have shops for climbing boots

In the shop
Yeah these will do
See ya then!

Hey! You gotta pay for those you know
Eh!?
It is like Tesco!

He's going to tell us that you need to pay for ropes, Krabs, clothes and entrance to climbing walls next!
You do

Let me handle this Ben, I've done this sort of thing before

I'm sorry Mr... erm... Moffit, but your card has expired

Now if you guys had done some hard routes and were famous, then I'd have a word with the manager, but.