

For those of you who don't know, Ben Moon (extremely famous climber and thin person with long black dreadlocks), was recently declared to be one of the country's 50 most eligible bachelors. It is beyond the scope of this cartoon to deliberate why, but it might be worth hypothesising as to how this news was received in certain quarters.

I just don't understand it!

JERRY MOFFATT
Also an extremely famous climber and thin person

JONNY
Fictitious character who has nothing to do with Mr. Jones

SIMON NASH
Shy and unassuming member of the public

I mean why him?! I'm so illegible that it's not true!

That's eligible Jerry

I've got the car, the money, the looks and besides all that, HE isn't even remotely indelible

It begins with an 'e'

Maybe it's my image. Perhaps you need to be young, taken and dreadlocked these days to be inedible.

Yes that's it! Image is the key

Image and the letter 'e'

So what image do you need to be an incorrigible bachelor?

Maybe if I drove a bit faster I'd get in the list

Maybe I should be more humble

Anyway who wants to be in some dumb list!

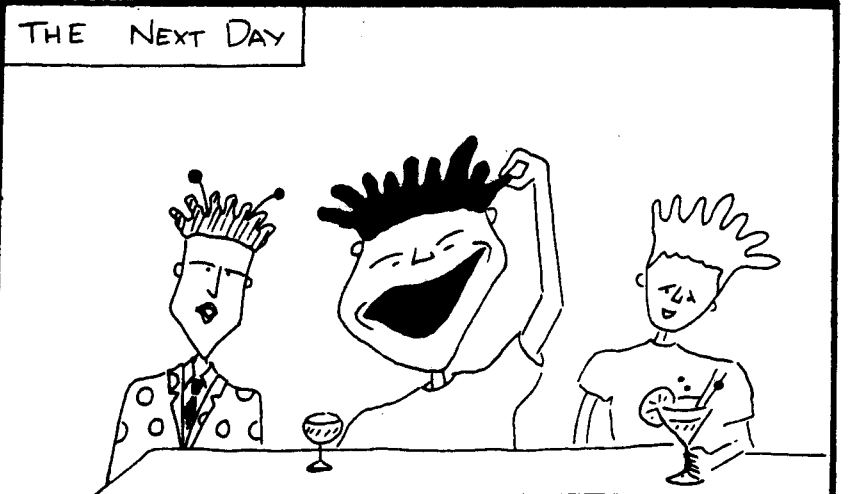

I think the idea is that by being in the list you become uneligibile by attracting a sexy chick.

Or a sexy Space Alien in your case

But I don't want to become unitelligible

No that neither

THE NEXT DAY